FOREIGN TRADE OF U. S. FOR JAN ARY

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 29.—Exports for January fell somewhat below the mark set the previous month, the total being $335,535,303 as compared with $332,800,000 for December. As compared with January a year ago, however, there was an increase of nearly $68,000,000. Imports are still increasing, the total for January being $184,192,399, an increase of more than $12,000,000 over December. Nearly 74 per cent of the imports were free of duty, indicating increased imports of raw materials and decreased imports of manufactured European goods.

For the seven months ended with January the exports from this country totaled $2,181,312,322, or 64 per cent higher than for the like period of the preceding fiscal year, and 40 per cent higher than the former best record, made in 1912-13. Imports for the seven months ending with January last totaled $1,096,979,173, being about $500,000 more than the former high record total of $1,096,484,707 recorded in the seven month periods of the last five fiscal years.

Our international gold movements were comparatively small, imports thereof during January last amounting to $15,008,232 and exports, $10,213,517. The aggregate gold imports for seven months to January 31, 1916, were $322,098,386, about nine times the amount imported in the seven months preceding January 31, 1915; and gold exports aggregated $34,658,968 in the first seven months of the current fiscal year, against four times that amount in a like period of the preceding year.

"BOOST CHICKASHA" IS ADVICE OF CAVETT

R. M. Cavett says "boost for Chickasha." Mr. Cavett, who is a member of the Chickasha city council is in favor of the city aiding at all times to any and all necessary equipment which will reduce the cost of living and which will attract the eyes of the homeseekers to this section.

"We know," said Mr. Cavett this morning, "that we have the best city of double its size to be found anywhere in Oklahoma, and it is up to all of us to let everyone else know this."

POLICE COURT PUTS ON BLACK FACE SHOW

She was not over 12 or 13 years old, counted in years; she was about knee high to a duck and of that shade of complexion which calls for the use of powdered charcoal in lieu of talcum powder, when arraigned before the mayor in the city court, and she knew how to use bad language to boot the band. She was charged with fighting with Mollie Carter and, when put on the witness stand she was perfectly willing to tell the whole smear, including the police officers present, just how and when and where they headed in.

She said that her name was Elenora McKinney and that Chickasha was not her permanent place of abode. She said that she was a game piece of humanity; that she owned a knife and six gun and that no shine of either the masculine or the female gender were going to slip anything over on her.

"I am afraid you are a tough kid," said his honor, "so I guess I'll fine you $5 and advise you to dig out of Chickasha and return to your mammy." And then as an afterthought the mayor asked, "Is your mammy a good woman or is she as tough and mean as you are?"

"No, sir, judge! No, sir! My mama and my papa are both 'spectable, good people. My papa belongs to a secretive society and my mama's a star." "Your mamma's what?" from the judge.

"My mamma's a star, judge, a star, which is the ladies detachment of the secretive society to which my papa belongs."

This morning the police court presented a busy scene for a few minutes.

First cases to the bat were two women of the semi-world. Released on cash bonds in the sum of $10 each until 4 o'clock this afternoon. Second cases called were against Lewis Groff and John Rogers, charged with fighting. The evidence showing Groff to have been the aggressor, Judge Coffman fined him $10 and dismissed the case against Rogers.

And then, in one, two, three, four, five, and so forth order came a bunch of young gentlemen charged with

"loitering and disturbing the peace. There were six of them and they all averred they were not ready for trial. Released—six of them—in bonds in the sum of $10 each for their appearance at 4 this afternoon.

Eighty simoleans appearing on the proper side of the ledger, court adjourned subject to reconvening without notice.
